Dr. Gordon King is alive and well and living at 10 Shutesbury Road in Leverett, MA!

Gordon is now 93 years old and has suffered damage to his voice box due to the explosion at his home a few years back, but he still manages to mow his many fields, as well as his neighbors' with his tractor. With the help of his neighbors, he recently gathered 1 million tin cans to raise $50,000 to donate to the Leverett Conservation Commission to save local land from development. He drives a 12-year old Ford Ranger and loves it!

On Saturday, October 30, 2011 a bunch of us beholden to Gordon plan to venture out to Leverett and spend some time with him. He'd like some help with selectively thinning his infamous Christmas tree and blueberry farm.

What do you think? Want to help? Want to finally make that visit to Dr. King that you've been putting off for 20 (or 50) years? He'd really like to see you.

Make a weekend of it --- bring your University Motel money, or a pup tent and sleep under Gordon's big sky. Don't let the tree farm work stop you ... whatever we accomplish that day isn't the point is it?

It's an easy trip out to Leverett ... Route 2 dumps you right at Gordon's back door!
